JHR DEVELOPMENT COMPLETES CONSTRUCTION ON MEDICAL OFFICE BUILDING IN BATH, MAINE.

Developer approaches 350,000 square feet of developed space in region.

Bath, Maine – On June 9th, J. Hilary Rockett, Jr., owner of JHR Development of Marblehead, MA, was on hand to celebrate the opening of Mid Coast Hospital’s new medical practice in downtown Bath, ME. The 20,000 square-foot, two-story healthcare center, valued at $6 million, adds to over 300,000 square feet of existing space developed by JHR in the region.

Recipient of the Southern Mid Coast Maine Chamber of Commerce Business of the Year award, JHR worked with Mid Coast Health Services to build a healthcare center at 108 Centre Street that will provide preventive and chronic disease care as well as integrated behavioral health counseling.

More than 200 were present for a ribbon cutting and remarks by officials from Mid Coast Health Services, the City of Bath, and JHR Development. As developer and owner of the building, Mr. Rockett, said, “This new facility is in a perfect location for the people of Bath. Working with Mid Coast, the City of Bath, and so many committed partners to create this building has been a fantastic process that will have lasting benefits for the city and its residents.”

JHR Development is presently in the planning process for a 40-unit condominium community on the Kennebec River in Bath and is nearing completion of a 35,000 square-foot school for special needs children in Beverly, MA.
